Forecast For East of England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Thursday 02 Dec 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Cold, with wintry showers in the northeast. Sunny spells elsewhere.

Today:
Dry with sunny spells in the southwest. Cloudier further northeast with scattered showers. These are likely to fall as sleet or snow inland early on, but turning increasingly to rain through the day. Feeling cold, with brisk winds. Maximum temperature 5 deg C (41 deg F).

Tonight:
Showers easing through the evening, leaving clear spells. Initially cold, but becoming slightly milder later in the night as cloud and outbreaks of rain spread in from the west. Minimum temperature 0 deg C (32 deg F).

Friday:
Overcast with outbreaks of light rain and drizzle, but gradually becoming drier and brighter from the northwest through the afternoon, as winds become light. Less cold compared to recent days. Maximum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
A chilly weekend with sunny spells and showers. Strong winds and coastal gales are possible Saturday night into Sunday. Cloud and rain spreading east on Monday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.